Press Release

Hampton University Architecture Alumni Association launches new official website

Atlanta, July 2, 2004: The Hampton University Architecture Alumni Association (HUAAA) will launch their official website, www.huaaa.org on Wednesday, July 7, 2004. The HUAAA was chartered by the National Hampton Alumni Association, Inc. in 2002 and is continuing to better serve it's membership by closing the initial MSN Groups website and creating a better website for communicating with the architecture alumni, students, faculty and administration. The website will present a series of new ideas showcasing alumni and students projects and discussions centered on experiences in the working and academic world.

The website will feature projects that architecture alumni either participated on or produced themselves and students work from the Department of Architecture's various studios. Alumni and students will discuss work experiences in both the working and academic environments. This discussion area will not be limited to architecture but also explore areas of daily life that architecture alumni are including in their professional and personal lives. In addition, the website will now provide the convenience of joining the HUAAA by paying membership dues online.

The HUAAA is a non-profit organization whose purpose is to support Hampton University and enhance its philosophy and mission by:

Providing effective communications between the alumni and Hampton University

Encouraging strong alumni participation.

Providing a vehicle for scholarships, fund raising and alumni giving.

Providing informational conferences or programs for the alumni and the Hampton University community.
